the old . . .

Wyomissing High School
is a well planned balance of . . .

and the new . . .

combined to form
an adequate and progressive program . . .

for an ever-expanding community.

Wyomissing's varied facilities are designed to fulfill one major goal . . .

a liberal education for each of its students.

For the fundamentals of education are as Cicero said of them . . .

"not transient as
idle pleasures . . .

they are of both youth and maturity . . .

they travel with us,
follow our wanderings,
and are with us always."

The typical school day encompasses a vast area of experience . . .

the last moments before homeroom . . .

inevitable few who are late.

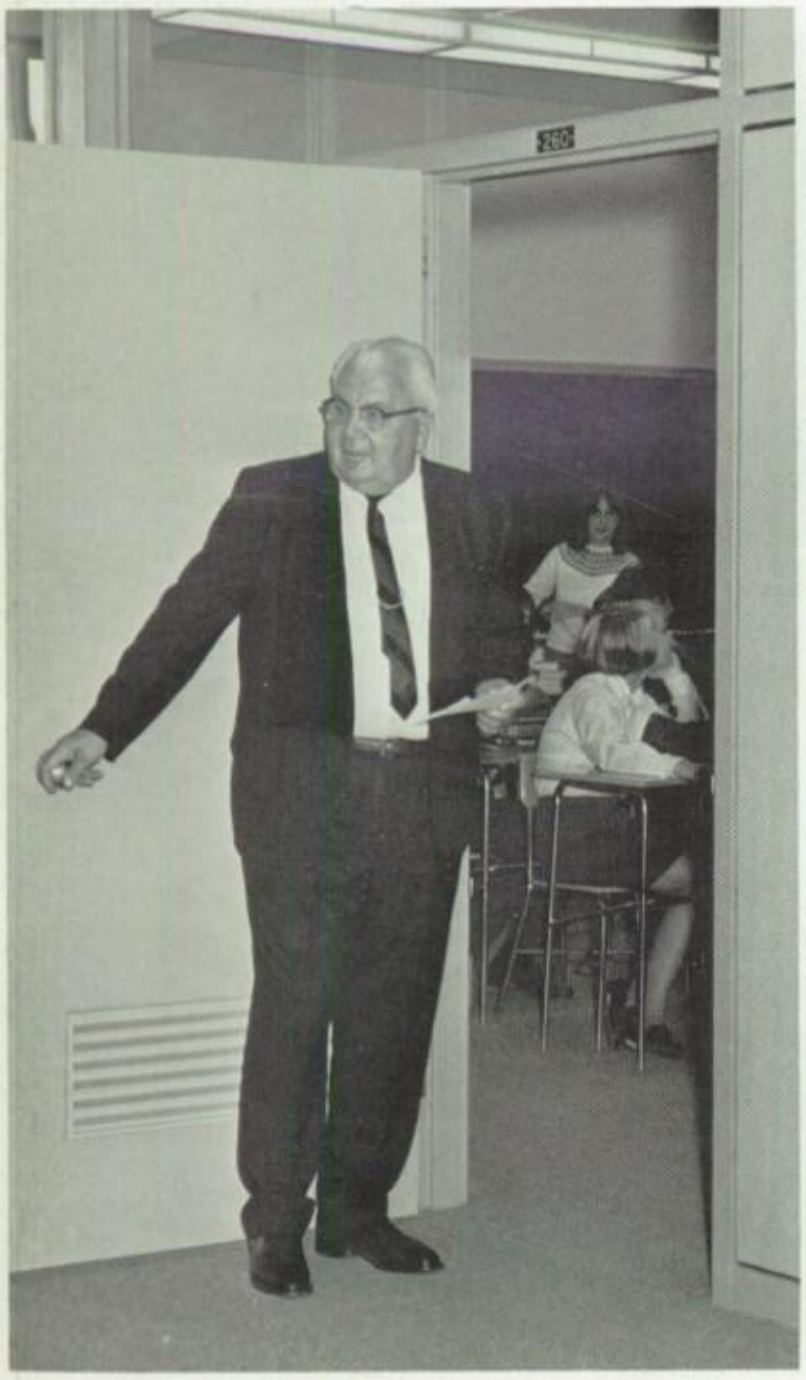
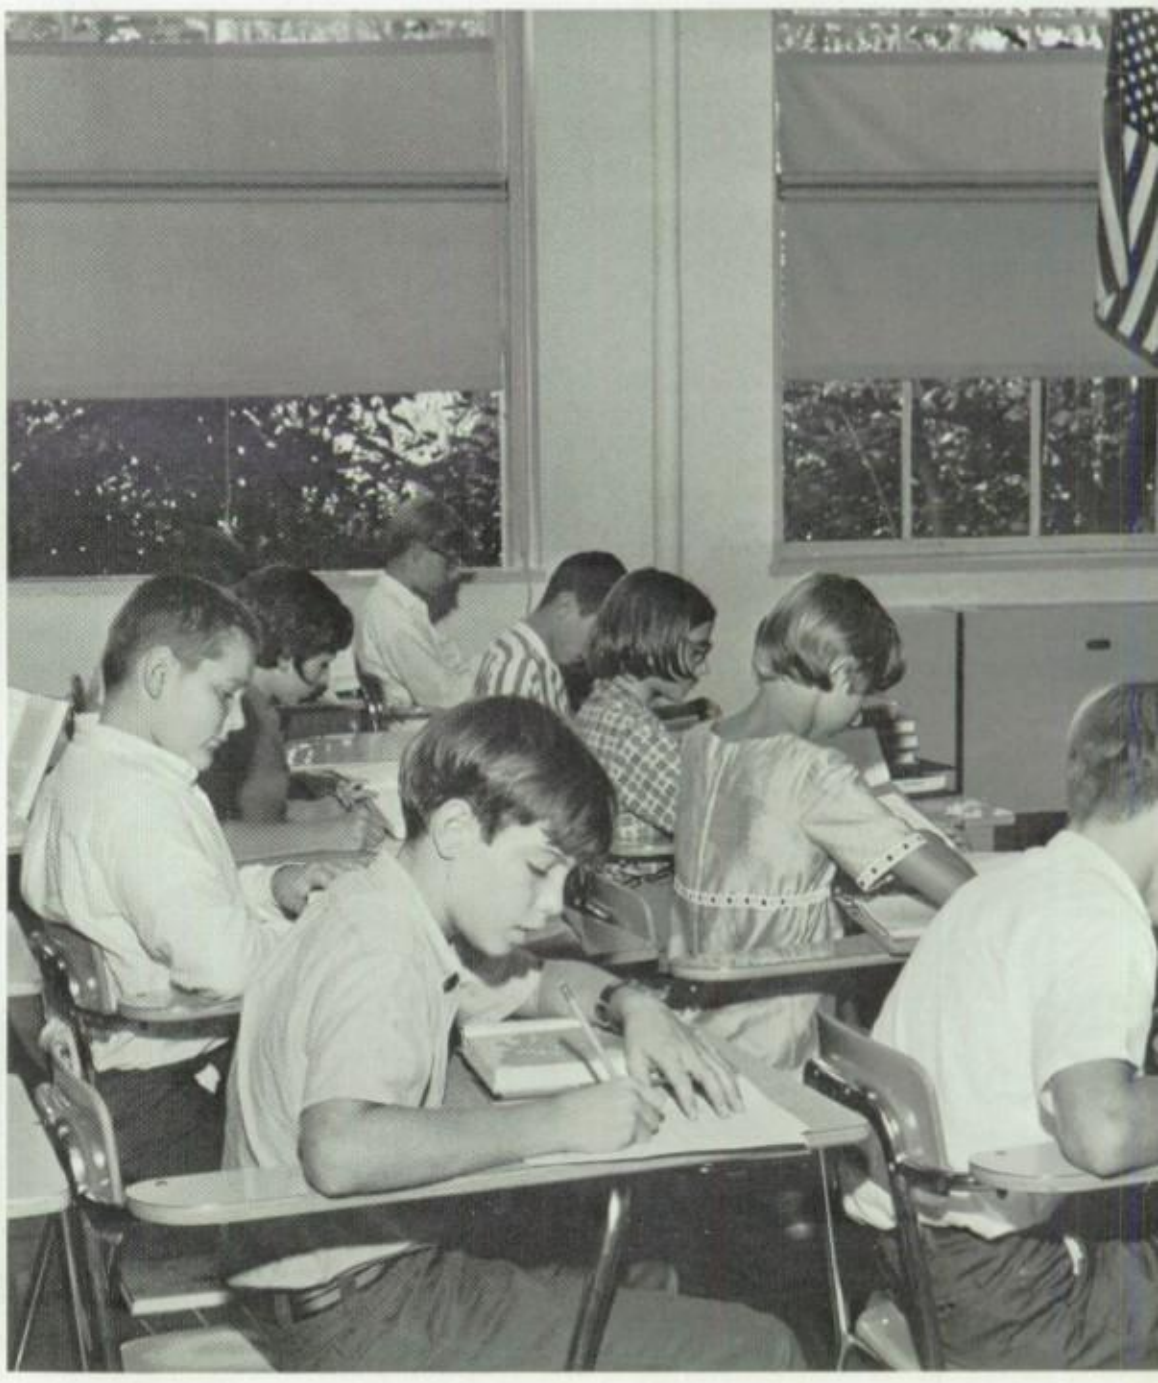
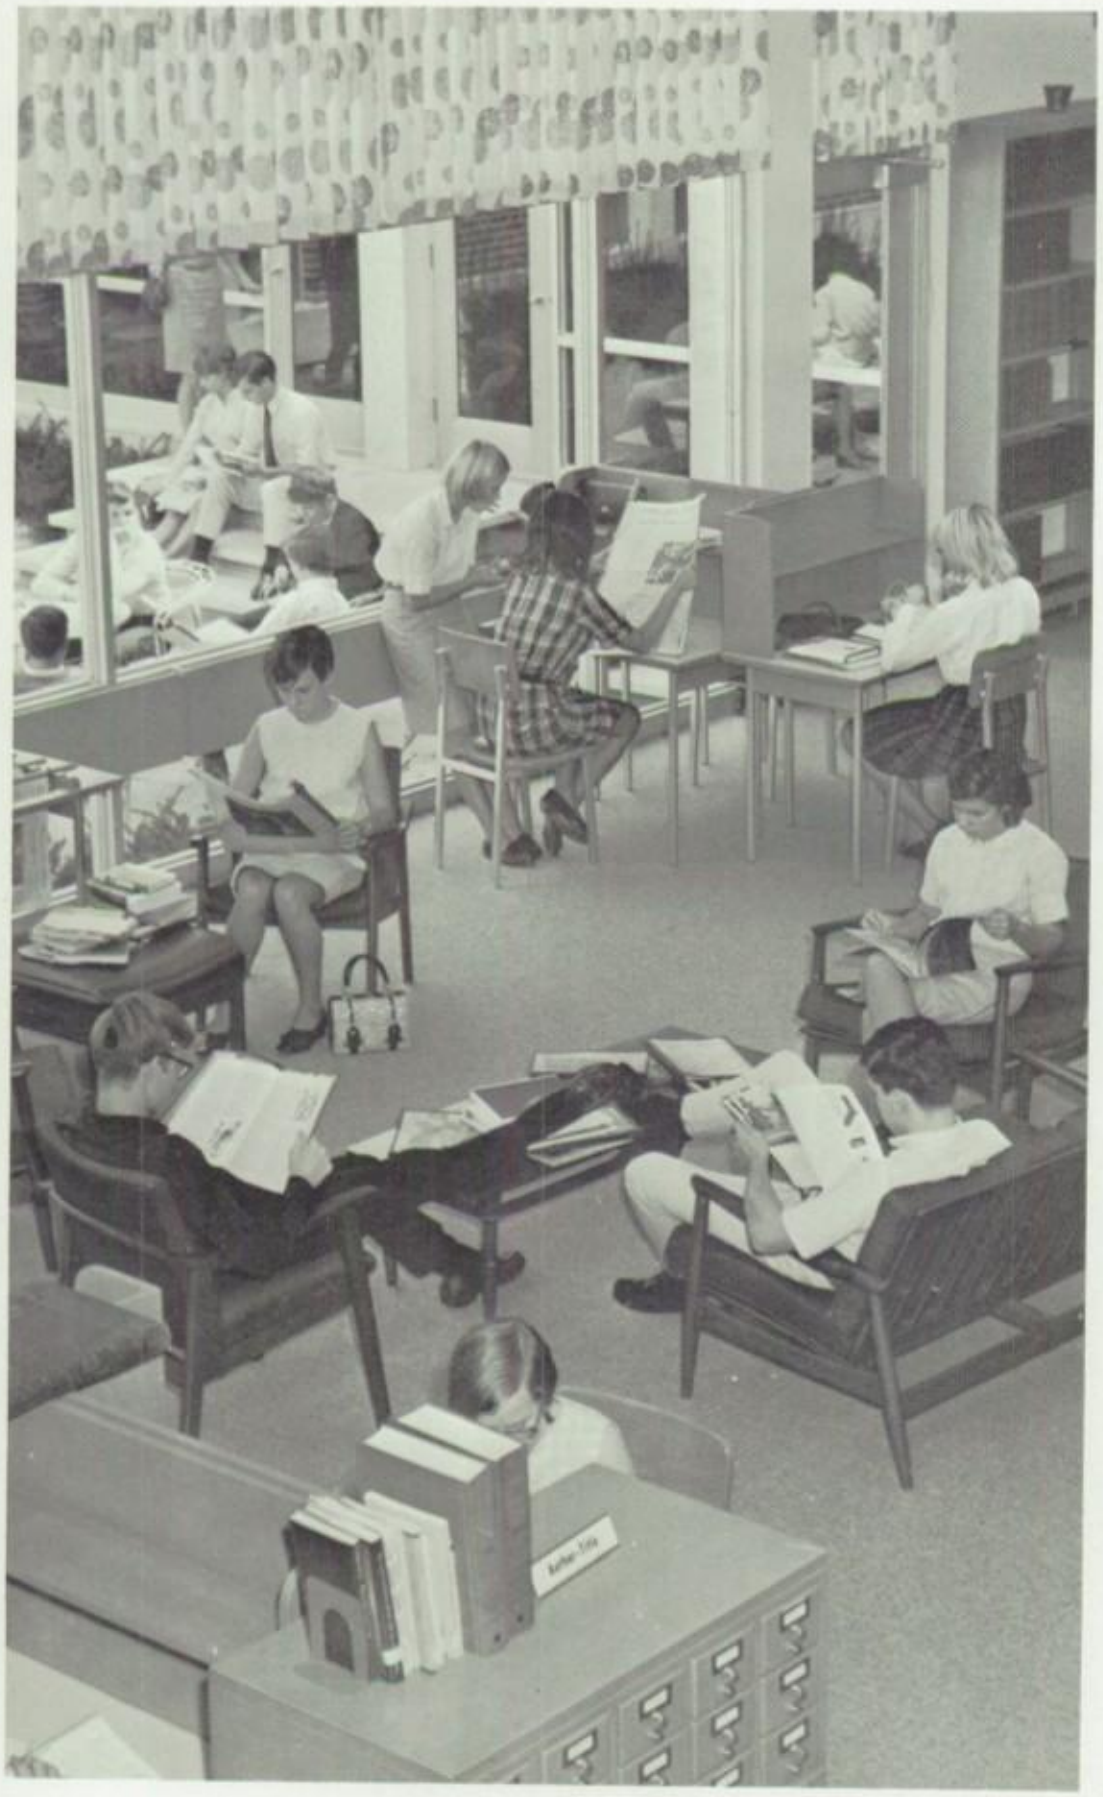
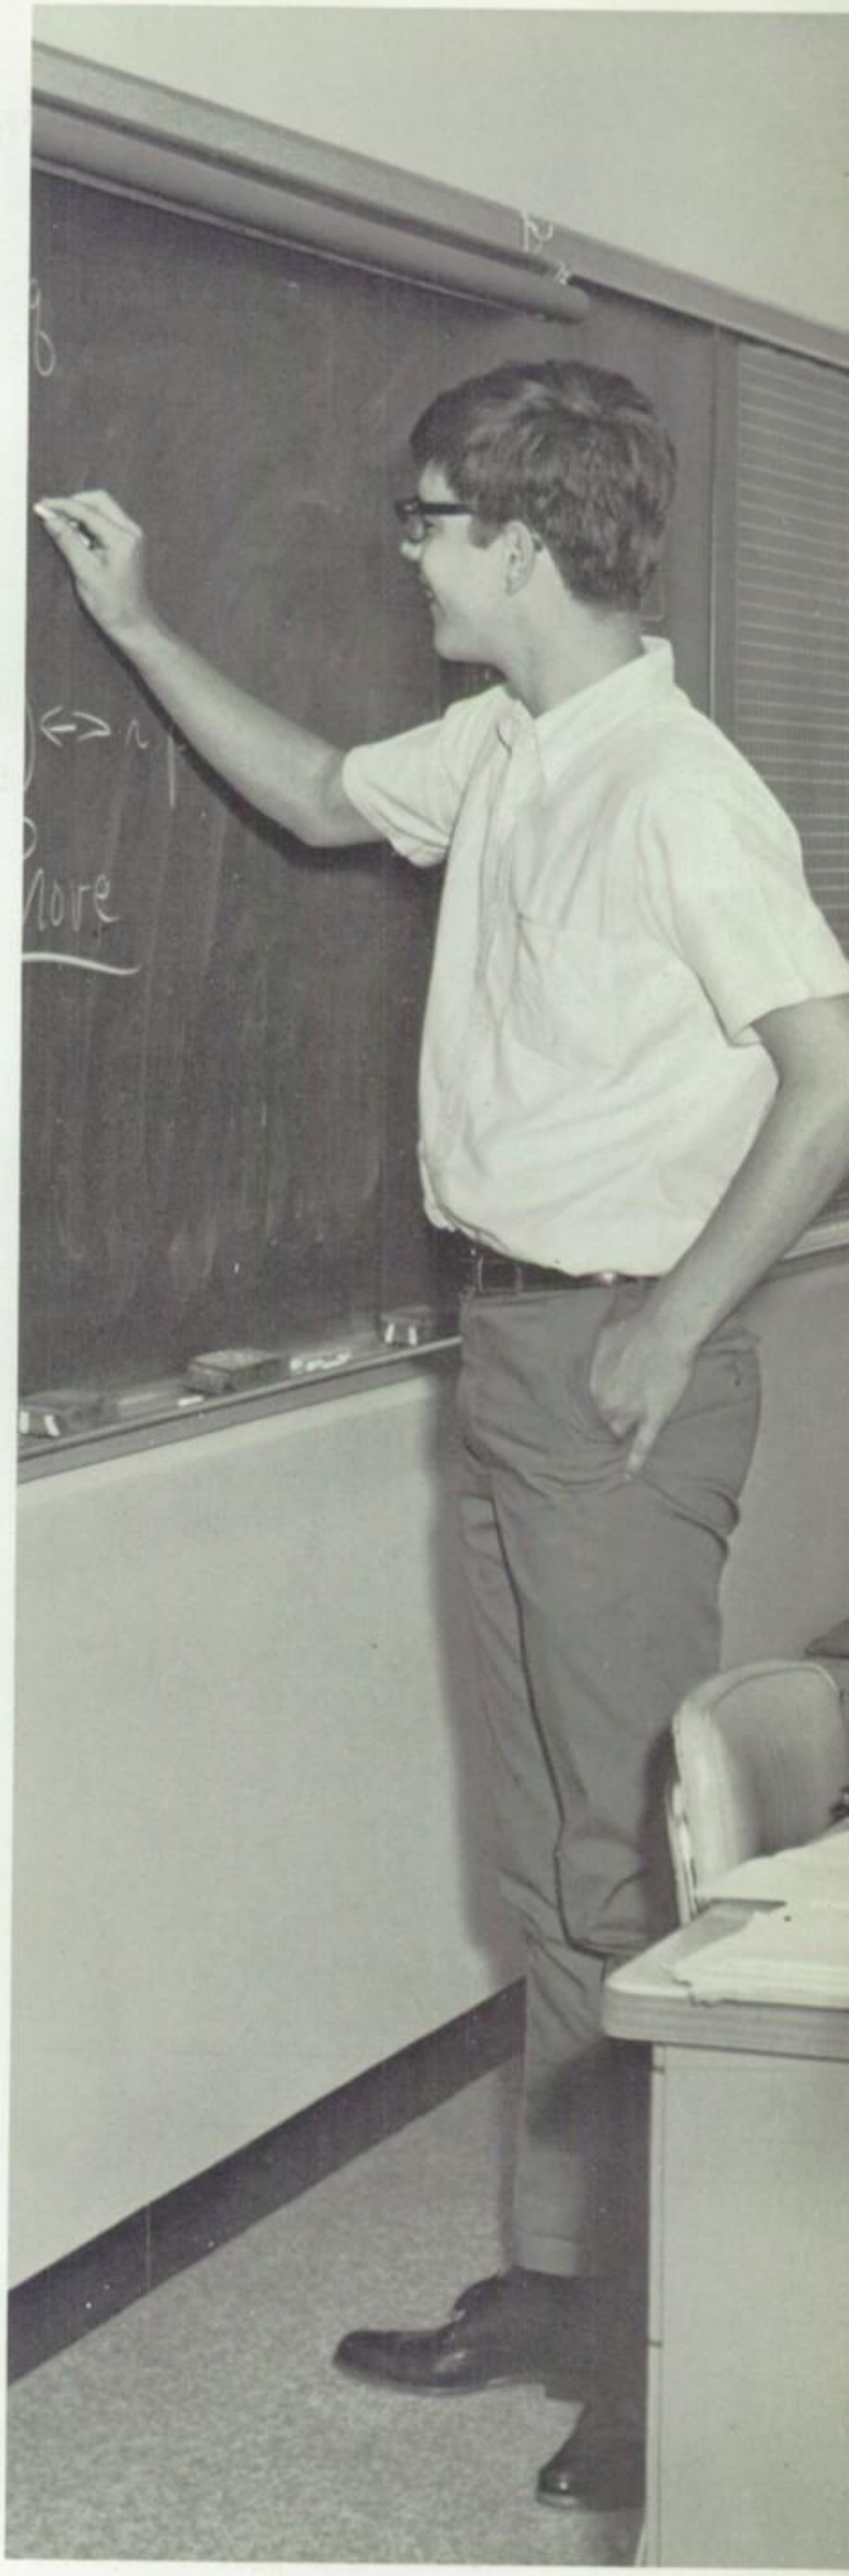
The scene before class is often one of merriment and socializing . . .

but soon order prevails.









Diversified classes
lend variety
and broaden our learning

SCHOOL BOARD—Mrs. Raymond McGonigle, Mrs. Nicholas Braun, Mrs. Sidney D. Kline, Mr. William Breitinger, Mr. Charles J. Fisher, Mr. Alfred K. Walter, Mr. Alexander Dracha, Mr. Roy Farrell, Mr. Elwood Hollenbach.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION—Mrs. Jerry Rosenblatt, Mrs. James Butler, Mrs. David Evans, Mrs. John Lynch, Mrs. Robert Buzby, Dr. B. Henry Shafer, Mr. Richard Lafreniere, Mr. George Bond, Mr. Humbert Manzolillo, Mr. Edward Seasholtz, Mr. Robert Tschop.

To Our Students:

Yours is a privilege—a challenge—a responsibility. You are fortunate in being privileged to live in a country whose basic ideologies protect and encourage the rights and dignities of its individual citizens, and in a community which is willing to give of its time, talent, and substance in order to afford each individual the opportunity to realize his full potential.

But the provision of opportunities does not guarantee your success either as a citizen or in your chosen vocation. Each person must, in the final analysis, meet the challenge personally. What each of you will accomplish depends on the measure of effort and dedication you are willing to put forth to bring your opportunities to full fruition.

Then, too, with every privilege comes a responsibility. It will be your personal responsibility so to work and to live that you will have done your part toward the perpetration of these basic principles and ideals.

To each of you, and particularly to the senior class, best wishes for a continuation of the success which has been yours to date.

Mr. Robert P. Tschop, Principal

"We will not lie, cheat, or steal, or tolerate among us those who do." This is the Honor Code of the U. S. Air Force Academy.

Several times within recent years, it has been suggested that this Code is impractical because Cadets have had to be dismissed from the Academy for cheating in their studies. Sometimes we have heard people suggest that the "old-fashioned" virtues of honor and honesty were no longer useful in our sophisticated modern society.

The basic theme of this brief message is that high moral and ethical standards are today more necessary and, therefore, practical, than ever before. How tragic it would be if man, in spite of his great conquest of the universe, in spite of his ability to modify and improve physical life, would destroy himself through moral and ethical decay. Man is a superior animal, not merely because of his intellectual prowess, but also because he has developed a high degree of social order. Perhaps all of you will see the day when science and intelligence will produce a kind of "human engineering" which will greatly improve society and government.

Dr. B. Henry Shafer, Supervising Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1968:

I would like to wish you lots of success and happiness throughout all future endeavors. I hope you will take advantage of all the opportunities to which you will be exposed. The knowledge acquired during your school days is a vital portion of your total education. However, it is very important, in our society, to continue to increase your knowledge. Please do not become stagnant; increase your potentials to their maximum capacities. Keep in mind that life is what you make it. People are not made successful, but make themselves successful.

The numerous relationships you have experienced with teachers, counselors, and administrators were aimed to develop informed and well-educated citizens.

Please keep in touch with your Alma Mater; we'll keep in touch with you.

My most sincere best wishes,

Reese J. Davis

Mr. Reese J. Davis, Guidance Counselor

The development of technology has now reached a point where the amenities of civilization can be provided for everyone. Man, however, seems more willing to investigate things rather than people. As a result, more is known about the workings of a machine than of a family. More is known of the interactions of chemicals than of groups of people.

Many of the problems facing the world today are compounded by this inadequate knowledge of human relationships. Let us hope that you, the present generation, will further the understanding of man's social complexities, so that we may learn to live together in peace and harmony.

Mrs. Westkott and Mr. Marderness examine the latest edition to the library.

Mrs. Heffner runs a tight library.

The junior high school library, under the supervision of Mrs. Ruhl Heffner, is designed to provide its patrons with a catholicity of choice reading materials. Here are the tools for stimulation and a way to knowledge.

The senior high school library is a reference based center, with emphasis on helping students master the academic disciplines. Head librarian Mrs. Hans Westkott has readily available an increasing inventory to meet student demands.

In addition to the more than five thousand volumes in each library, are the sources of the Instructional Media center, supervised by Mr. Gene Marderness. This facility supplies teachers and students with films, transparencies, and tapes which are used either in class as teaching aids, or out of class in conjunction with a subject. There are also record players, tape decks, film viewers, and micro-projectors, for student use.

Hi-Y-Teen Service Award

The Hi-Y-Teen Service Award is recognized as the most coveted academic honor an individual can receive at Wyomissing High School. Each year a senior girl and a boy are elected by the sophomore and junior members of the respective organizations, according to outstanding performance in service, leadership, scholarship, school spirit, character, and citizenship.

This year, in recognition of their overall character, Karen Hammerschmidt and Robert Restrepo merited this award.

National Honor Society

FIRST ROW — D. Spang, B. Griffith, M. Palmer, K. Hammerschmidt, W. Jay, A. Forry, K. Dieffenbach, B. Nagle, M. Krissiep, N. Harner.
SECOND ROW—L. Heisler, L. Miller, B. Paige, K. Keffer, C. Tschop, S. Loose, L. Fortna, M. Minner, E. Rottschaefer, B. Golden.
THIRD ROW—S. Eavenson, J. Yund, J. Speicher, P. Schlegel, S. McBride, E. Shafer, B. Saylor, J. Reinsel, B. Restrepo, P. Birdsall, R. Restrepo.

Being chosen as a member of the National Honor Society is one of the highest honors a junior or a senior can acquire.

To qualify for membership, the student must rank in the first quarter of his class. The faculty then rates the prospective member according to leadership, character, and activities. With these four major criteria in mind, teachers elect up to ten percent of the junior class and fifteen percent of the senior class to the National Honor Society.

Margot Krissiep and Ellen Rottschaefer received special recognition for their being named National Merit Finalists. This award has been conferred upon them for their outstanding scores in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Model Legislature

Every year, Wyomissing sends its delegation to the model legislature at Kutztown State College. This year's group was composed of: Fred Levering, Scott Palmer, Paul Birdsall, Jack Richards, Charles Wagner, William Weaver, Dennis Renken, and Charles Savadelis. These students participated with other groups from Berks County schools in attempting to enact bills according to the normal legislative procedures. The boys proved themselves aggressive and effective legislators both in committee and in general discussion. In recognition of their outstanding performance, they were named Best Delegation, thus distinguishing both themselves and Wyomissing High.

The International Student Committee is a group of appointed students whose main purpose is to maintain friendly relations between exchange students and the Wyomissing academic community.

One of its major functions is the annual fund raising drive. By selling shares in the American Field Service program to Wyomissing students, the committee helps to finance future international students. Highlights of the year's activities were a welcoming dinner for two of the visitors at Mrs. Knipe's home and birthday parties for Tiina and Carlos. Throughout the year, the committee endeavors to make these junior ambassadors a part of their new environment and to help them benefit from a truly satisfying experience.

S. Palmer, vice-chairman; B. Paige, secretary; P. Schlegel, treasurer; S. Schlegel, chairman.

Johan Gunther was our Rotary exchange student from Kalmar, Sweden. He is most obviously interested in mod clothes and frequently exhibits his artistic abilities. In fact, he likes not only modern art, but also all types of music ranging from the classics to jazz, to the Beatles, to Simon and Garfunkel. At home in Sweden, Johan enjoys sailing and playing soccer. He likes reading and deep discussions as well as Donald Duck and Bugs Bunny. His favorite course at Wyomissing was psychology. While in the United States, Johan lived with local members of Rotary including the Bauers and the Gages, and the Willmans.

Tiina was a spark of life in the Senior Class. She surmounted the obstacle of a "tough break" in the first few months of her visit. She participated most enthusiastically in the Girl Scout programs of our community. Her host family, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stevens, will always remember her as the wonderfully "mad Finn." The members of the Senior Class, as well as the rest of the school entertain kind thoughts of her.

Although skiing is a vital element of Tiina's life at home in Kuopio, Finland, she learned that she could live without it.

She will return to Kuopio this summer and attend school for one more year. She then would like to study theology in a University in Helsinki, Finland. She hopes that everyone enjoyed her visit as much as she did, and that someday we may send someone to visit her family.

Carlos Eduardo de Aguirre, from Concepsion, Chile, was our newest International Fellowship student who arrived in Wyomissing on January 18, 1968. Carlos resided with Mr. and Mrs. Richardson Schofer and family.

Carlos is presently in the 11th grade at Sacred Heart, a high school in Talcahuno, Chile. He participates in basketball. His hobbies are popular music and horseback riding. He speaks, reads, and writes Spanish, French, and English.

Members of the Future Teachers of America participated in many education and service projects throughout the past year under the aegis of an able president, Linda Fortna, and the club adviser, Mrs. Gene Marderness. During the spring, the girls took part in the annual student teaching program in which future teachers observe, and, later, teach the subject and grade level of their choice. Club members acted as guides when Wyomissing High held its open house. At Christmas, the girls had another opportunity to teach. In a service and educational capacity, they helped grade school children decorate for the holiday and aided teachers in the Christmas program.

Probably the most interesting activities of the year were field trips in February. Senior members visited Reading's Special Education Building where they observed classes with the retarded and the handicapped. A few of the girls had the opportunity to help in class. Junior and sophomore members spent a day at West Chester State Teachers College. The Future Teachers also attended a meeting of the Wyomissing Area Teachers Association. Another precedent was the election of Linda Fortna for her outstanding ability, participation, and character.

M. Palmer, secretary; S. Buzby, treasurer; H. Thomas, vice-president; L. Fortna, president.

Football

The Warriors began their '67 season faced by two problems which were largely responsible for a rather disappointing record. Little experience and lagging school spirit created an initial disadvantage never completely overcome.

However, while Wyomissing was forced to accept a defensive role in most of the games, the team never flagged in enthusiasm. In later games, the team showed marked improvement and a competitive spirit that was not easily discouraged. The football team deserves a word of congratulation for its few, hard-won victories. We regret only that the experience gained by senior players will be lost to next year's team.

This year's addition of a band and a drill team contributed to a new rise in school spirit and team morale. Hopefully, this trend indicates a renewed interest in sports.

Cross-Country

Boys on the cross-country team began a grueling program of training and conditioning while other students were enjoying a last summer fling. Not content to rest on past glories, the team attempted to match last year's winning season.

However, the majority of underclassmen lacked the experience which is so necessary for a strong team. This problem, coupled with waning student support, made cross-country the "forgotten sport." Despite a disappointing record, the team deserves a word of praise. Under the aegis of Mr. Gottshall, the boys developed a strong sense of good sportsmanship. By consistently doing their best and by keeping their dogged determination to succeed, the boys came through with a surprisingly strong showing at the Conference Run. The Warriors also gained a year of experience, the vital factor they sorely needed.

"The curfew tolls the knell of parting day, The lowing herd wind slowly o'er the lea."

Happiness is the Senior year in many forms and experiences

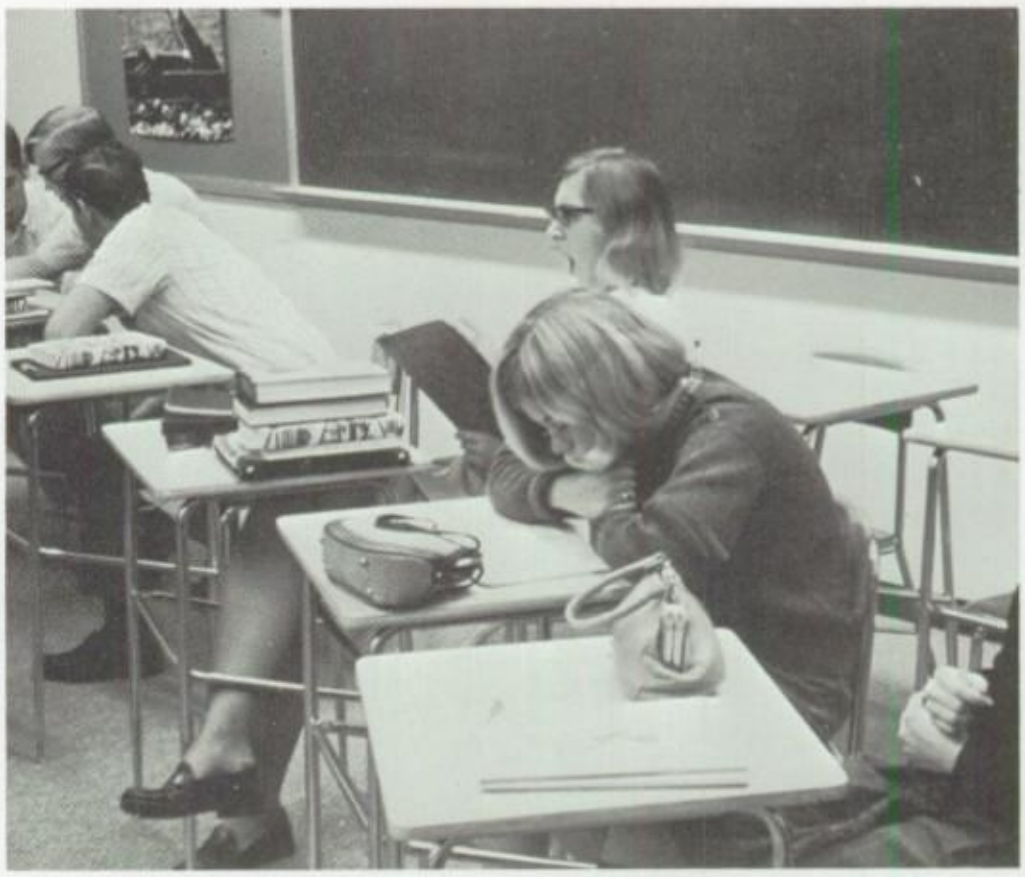
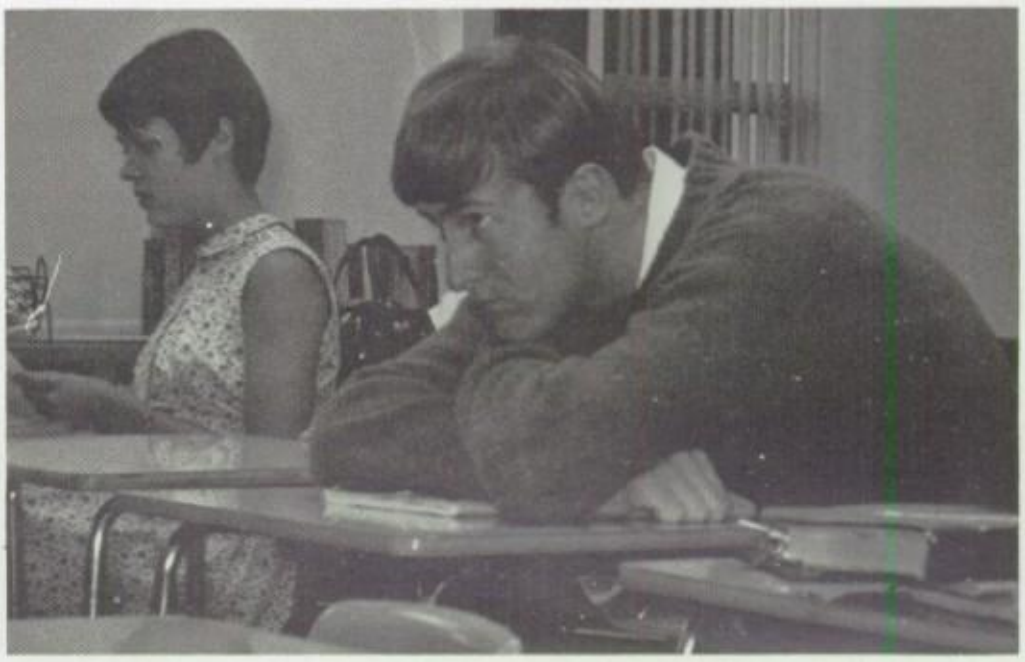
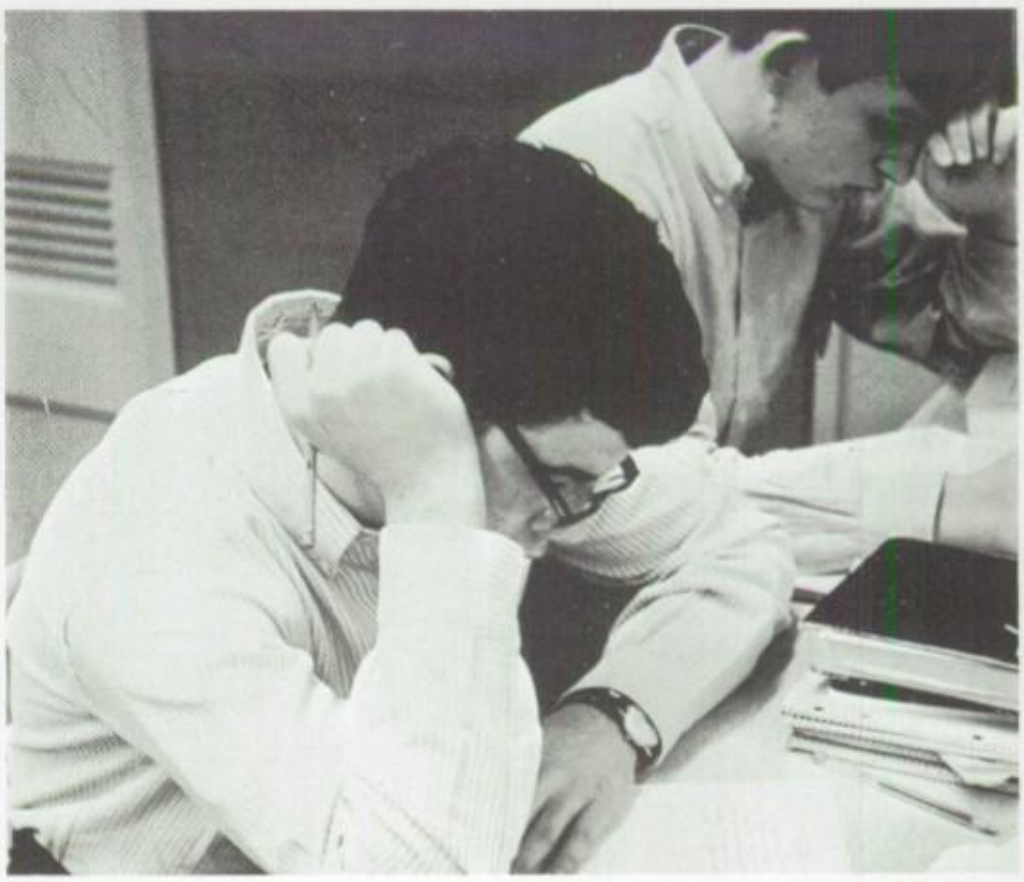
Seniors, Seniors, standing tall, who's the fairest of them all? C. Brace caps S. Loose.



M. Trexler sings the Monday-after blues.



Brian strikes a familiar pose.



"Sweet Are the Uses of Adversity." J. Houck, S. Woodward.

"Go, Warriors!" S. Buzby.

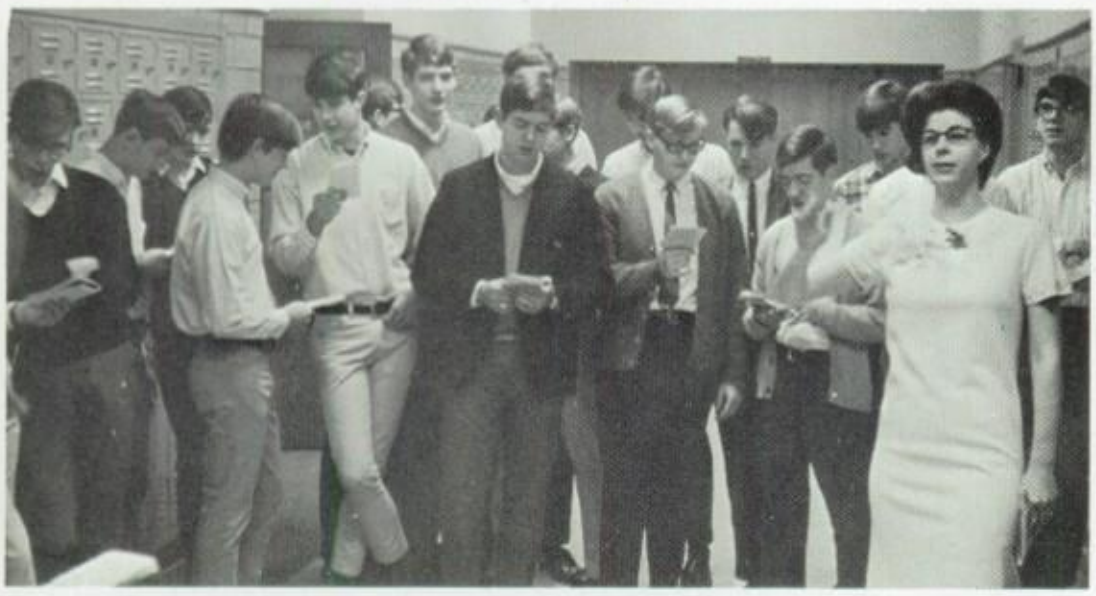
Who else was accepted?

"Cornelia, I'd be glad to teach you some facts of acting."

Seniors express varied reactions to study hall.

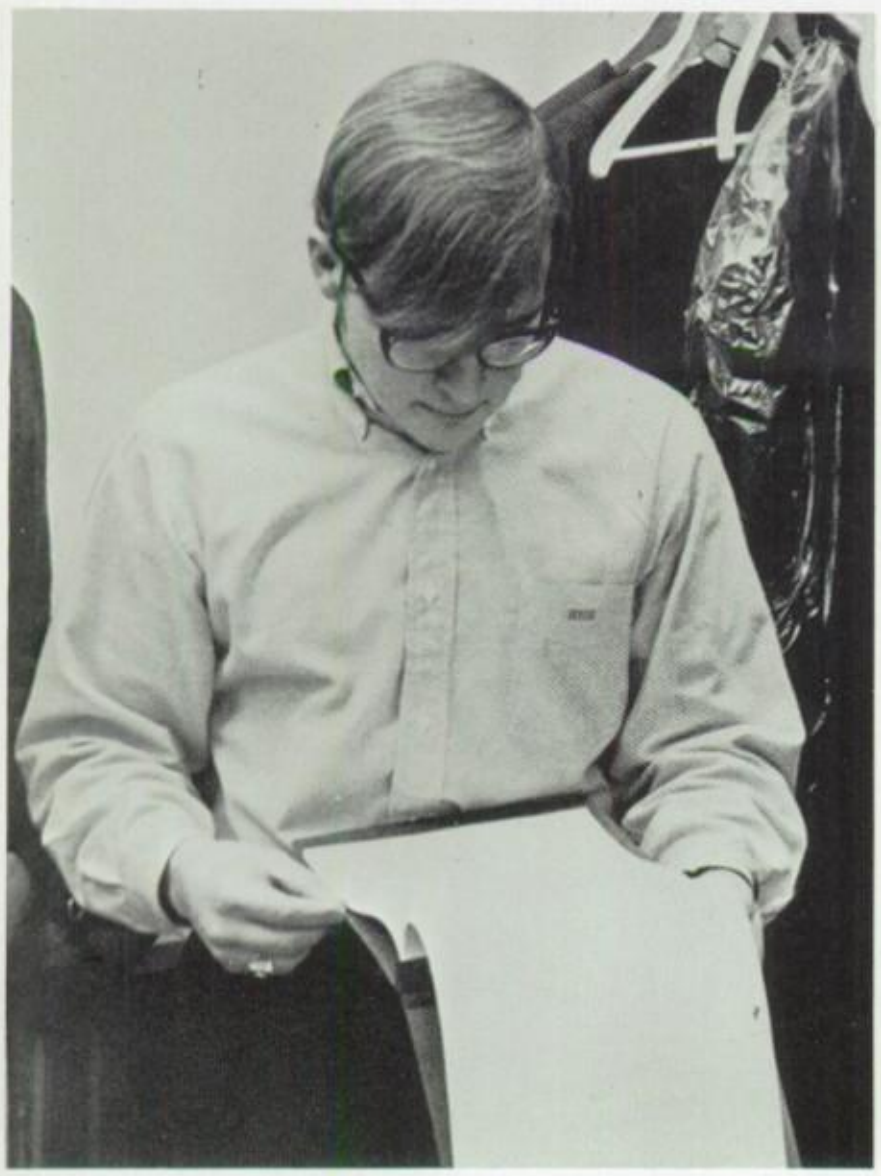
"And if you buy one set of encyclopedias, you will get absolutely free . . ."

Seniors spread Christmas joy to the world



"They gazed and gazed and still their wonder grew, that a head so small could hold all he knew."

Gallant Seniors come to the aid of a damsel in distress.



Another day, another "A."

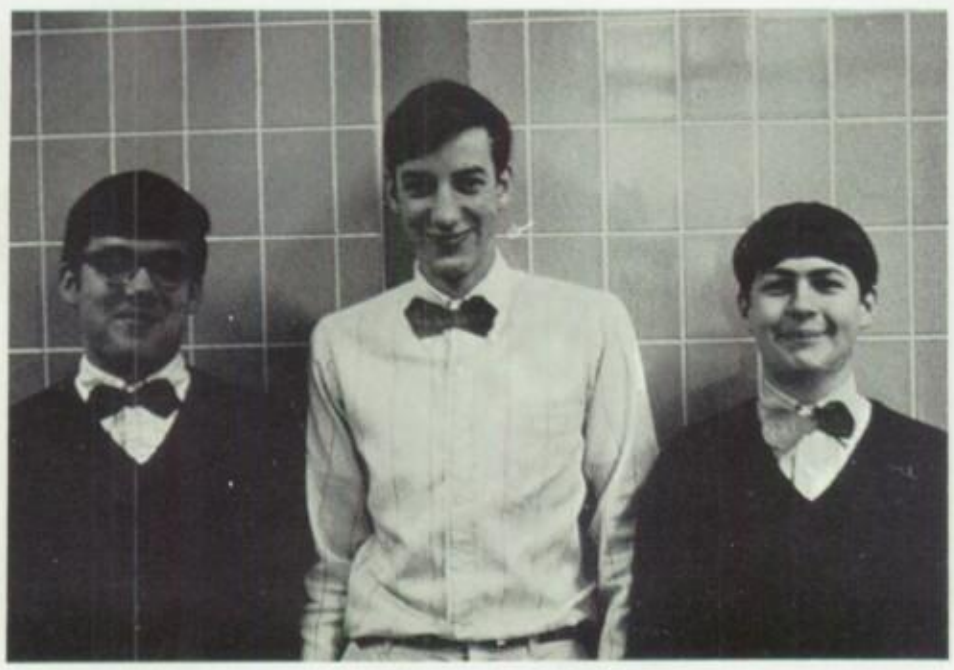
Sitting On Top of the World!

"Certainly, I'll have these I.T.'s marked at the end of the period."

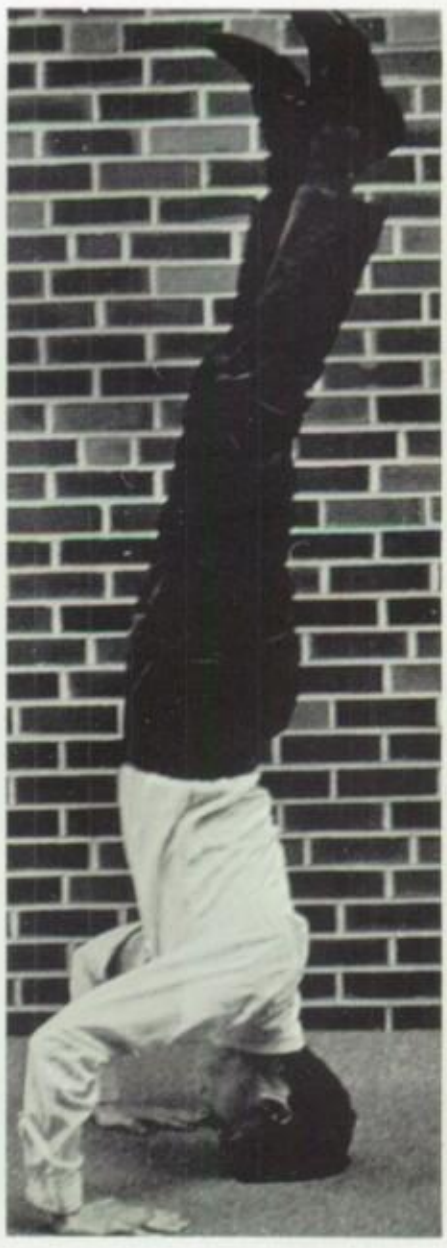
"All that work!"

Singing in the rain as the I.T. notes burn.

The case of Bob Golden's lost ring.



The Three Musketeers: M. Chaknos, M. McLean, and P. Birdsall.



The ups and downs in the life of Henry McDill.

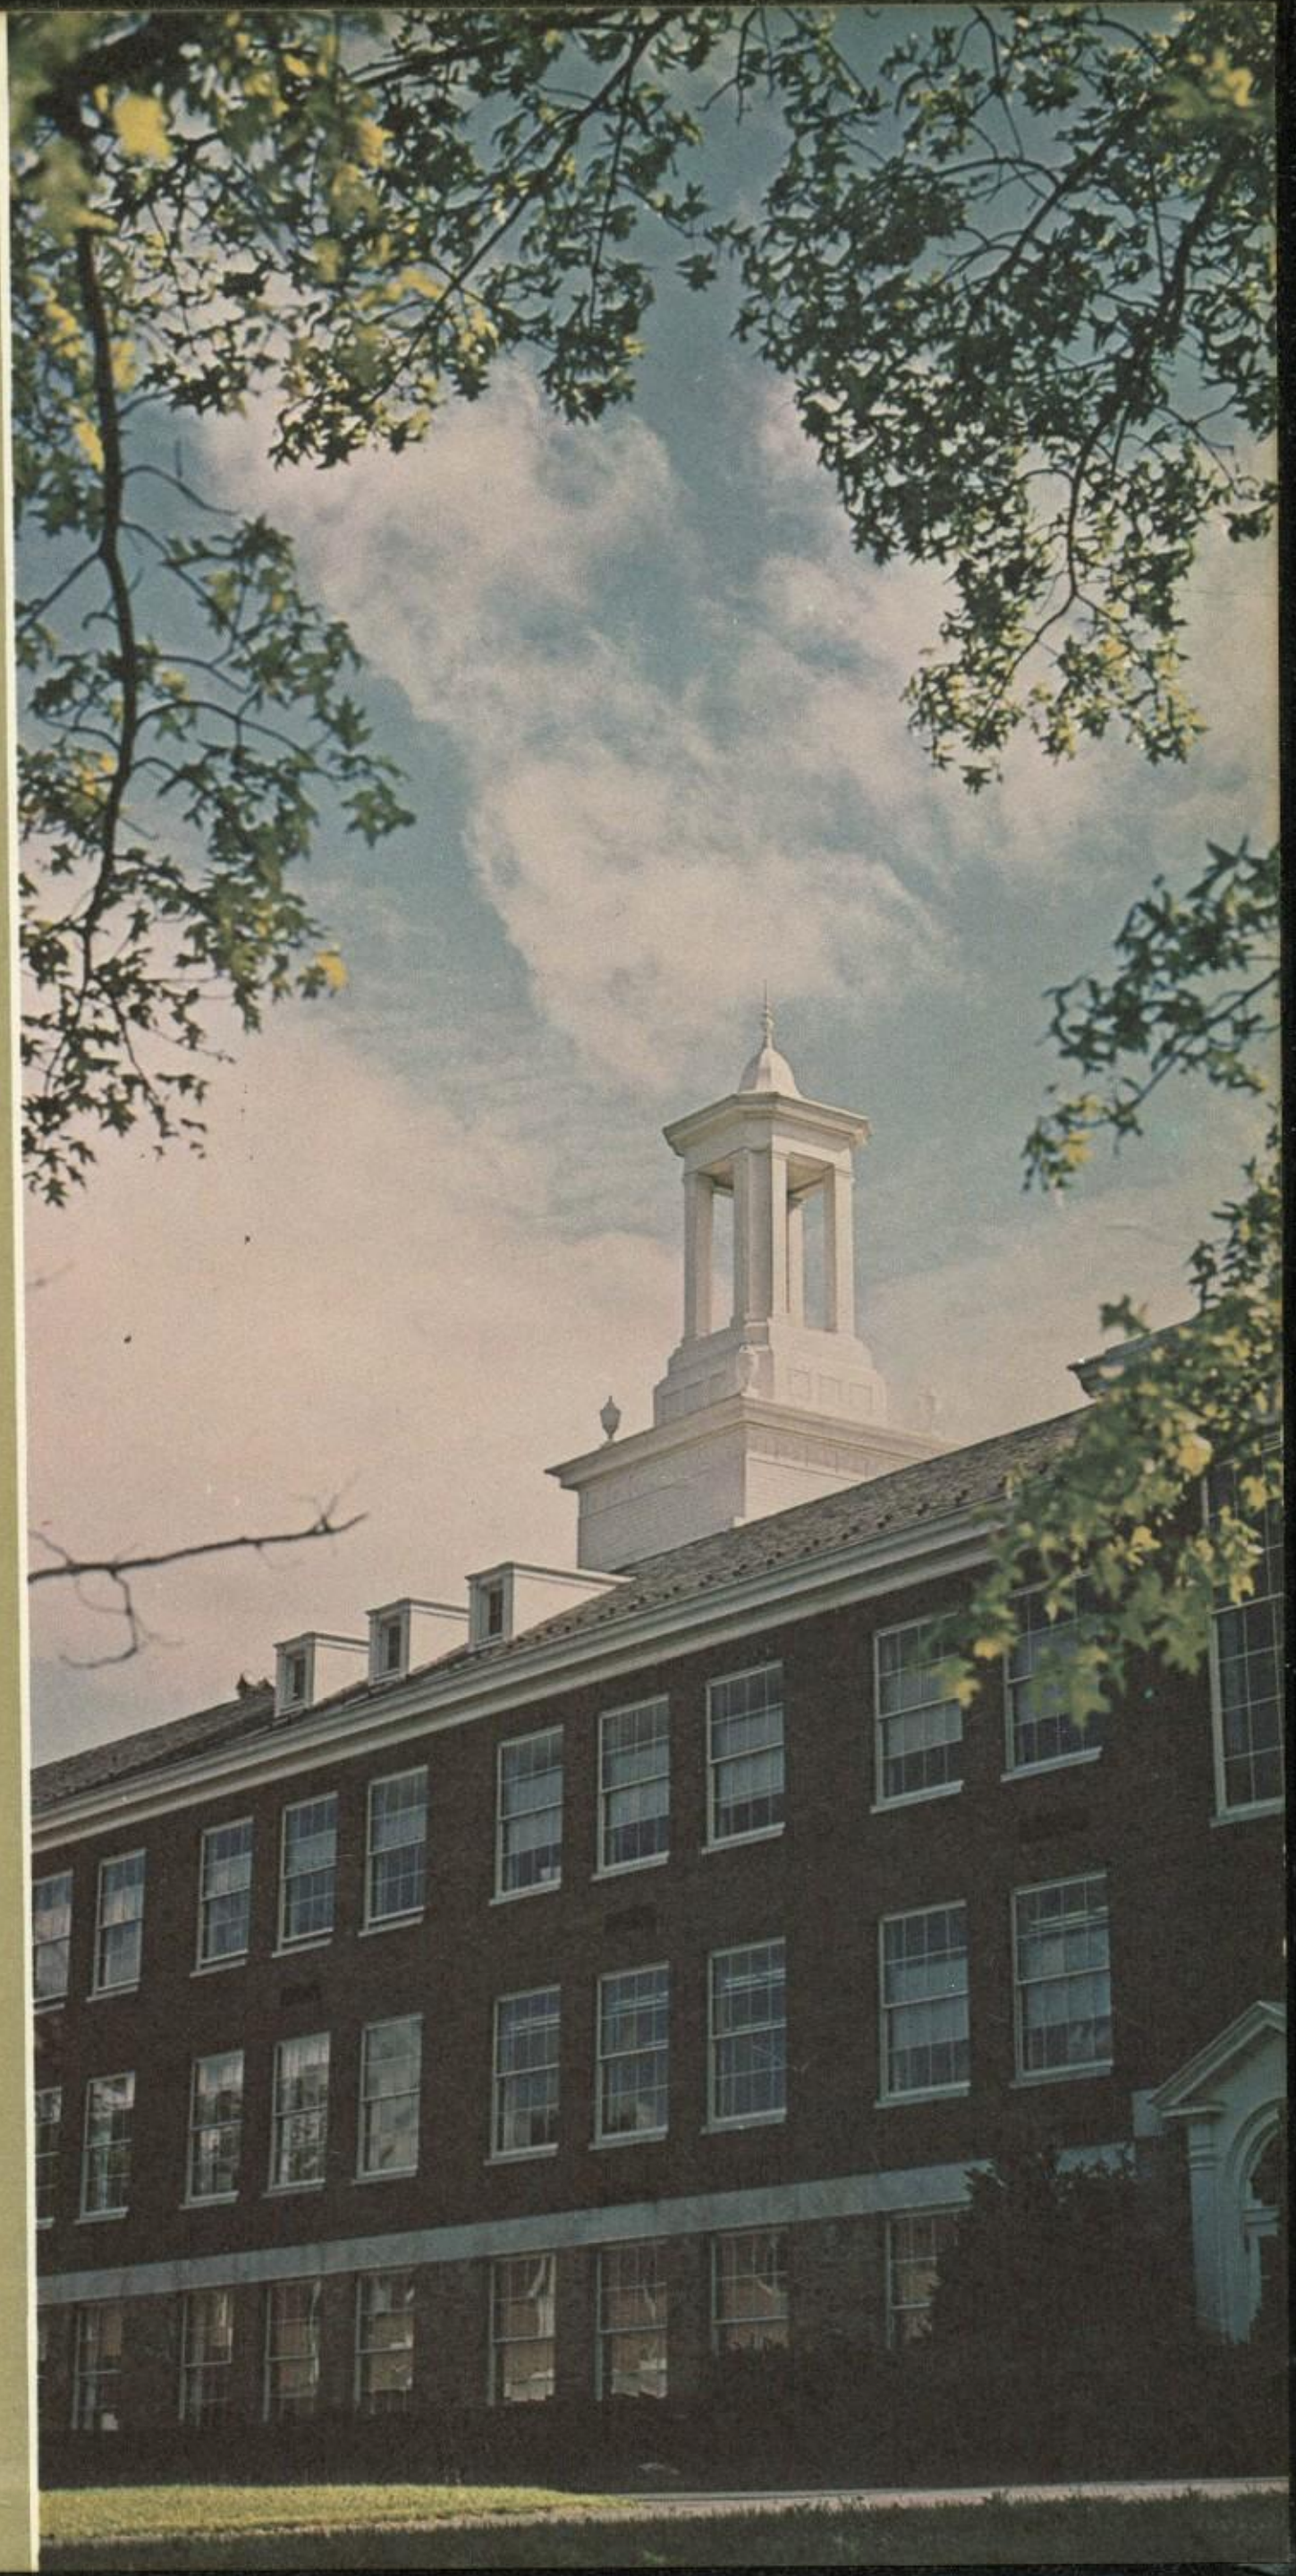
Acknowledgment

In publishing the Colophon, we have used words and pictures to portray this year's student in a most realistic and favorable light. Yet, the printed word fails us in suitably thanking those who have given freely of their time and talents to make the task possible.

The 1968 staff extends its thanks to Mr. Russell T. Milford who supervised our work and answered innumerable questions throughout the past year. We thank Mr. D. C. Shirk for his many hours of toil in photography and his help to the student photographers. The staff also owes its thanks to Mr. Charles Gabensleben who supervised the patron drive and to Mrs. John Ritter for suggestions to the art staff.

The Senior Class of 1968 expresses its great appreciation to the Colophon advisers and also to Taylor Publishing Company and Loring Studios for their professional services. We most gratefully acknowledge the generosity of the entire community through which our endeavor was made possible.

Tribute


To the Greeks, the word "kolophon" was the hallmark of excellence, suitable only for those achievements deemed most nearly perfect. Although the absolute of perfection was never attained, many of the ancients' efforts to reach the unreachable have survived as noble endeavors, a great credit to the age. In taking Colophon as our title, we undertake the same quest. Realizing that perfection is beyond us, we hope that this edition merits a mark of excellence.
